WILDERNESS OUTPOST58

A scenic landscape photograph of a rushing river, likely the Blackfoot River, flowing through a dense forest of evergreen trees. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a warm, golden glow that illuminates the mist rising from the water and the sky. The river is turbulent, with white water rapids and large rocks visible. The trees are silhouetted against the bright sky, and the overall atmosphere is serene and majestic.

Spring

March / April / May

You'll feel it standing on the banks of the Blackfoot River, rushing fiercely from winter's thaw. Or while surrounded by a velvety blanket of wildflower-dotted greenery, breathing in the crisp mountain air. There's an enchanting quality to springtime in Montana. It's the thrill of unpredictability—you never know how your day will turn out, but you know it's going to be spectacular. There are countless ways to explore and play, both in rain or shine. There's nothing quite like a Montana spring, and there's no other getaway quite like a visit to The Resort at Paws Up®.

A large bison with dark brown fur and curved horns stands in a field of tall, golden-brown grass. The background features rolling hills with scattered green trees and a line of evergreens under a bright blue sky with large, white, fluffy clouds.

Summer

June / July / August

Remember that feeling when school finally let out? This summer, gather the whole family at The Resort at Paws Up to remember exactly how exhilarating it is to not have a responsibility in the world—except to decide what to do next. Shall you rise early and explore miles of wilderness trails, or hop on a ropes course to show everyone what you're made of? Maybe you'll go horseback riding, float down the river or engage in a s'mores-eating contest. Join us in Montana and experience the endless ways to make the most of those extra-long golden days of summer.

Winter

December / January / February

It happens every year: with a fresh blanket of pristine snow, Montana is new again. With vast mountain vistas in the distance and icy rivers up close, the air is crisper, and your mind feels clearer. You could also say it's our warmest time of year, inspiring you to gather around the fire, laugh with loved ones and dig into cuisine that's both cutting-edge and comforting. With countless opportunities to have both invigorating adventures and slow, cozy moments, a winter's visit to The Resort at Paws Up brings out the polar opposites in all of us.
