Established in 2005

Montana, as It Was Meant to Be[®]

Iconic, historic, wild and protected

This is a place where big things happen. From glaciers and dinosaurs to Native Americans and cattle ranchers, the rich history of Paws Up's landscape is yours to discover.

In the 1700s, the Blackfoot River Valley served as a transportation corridor for Nez Perce, Flathead and Blackfeet Indians. Captain Meriwether Lewis followed the trail to arrive in 1806, on his return trip of the famed Lewis & Clark Expedition.

For a time, fur trappers, miners and loggers pursued their wealth here, and an abundance of gold was discovered in 1898 in nearby Garnet, which became a boomtown of 1,000 residents. Then, sometime around 1915, Paul Greenough acquired four homesteads and established the 3,800-acre Sunset Valley Ranch. A man with a well-known sense of humor, Greenough branded the ranch's sheep by painting them with a big green "O."

Over the years, the ranch grew as new owners came and went, from an uncle of Paul Greenough's, John Epperson, to a Hollywood muckety-muck who hosted celebrities like Maureen O'Hara. The Lindbergh Cattle Company took over the ranch in 1965, and the brothers, Land and Jon Lindbergh, orchestrated the formation of the current Paws Up Ranch. A Missoula lawyer, Bob Mullendore, purchased the property in 1991 and teamed up with environmentalists to manage the timber and reroute a large section of Elk Creek to prevent erosion.

Finally, in 1997, the Lipson Family purchased the land and expanded the property to a total of 37,000 deeded and leased acres. It's now a working cattle and bison ranch, a habitat for more than 300 elk, as well as the home of two resorts, The Resort at Paws Up® and the green o®.

A photograph of a modern, minimalist wooden structure in a forest at night. The structure is composed of vertical wooden planks and features two glowing lanterns mounted on its exterior walls. The lanterns have a warm, orange glow, contrasting with the cool blue tones of the twilight sky and the dark silhouettes of the trees. The overall atmosphere is serene and luxurious.

The great outdoors, in great luxury

Few places on earth combine the majestic scenery of the American West with the high level of service and style it takes to provide unforgettable experiences for discerning guests. In fact, we can only think of one: the Paws Up Ranch.

There's no red carpet; instead, you'll be greeted with rugged trails and Montana-sized open arms. You'll dust off your shoes inside sumptuous accommodations where every window shows off breathtaking views. Each day brings thrilling outdoor adventures. Every meal features world-class cuisine, and the staff seems to know in advance everything you'll require.

You're not just a group here. You're our valued guests, and we'll work to ensure your stay is spectacular, like the Rocky Mountains themselves.

—The Lipson Family

Paws Up luxury homes

There are no tall buildings at Paws Up, no long corridors or adjoining rooms. Instead, privacy is part of the package. And the full menu of unique experiences begins with your accommodations.

WILDERNESS ESTATES

A short drive from the Paws Up Village, 10 Wilderness Estates offer expansive ranch and forest views. Each 3,250-square-foot home has three spacious suites, including private master baths, so up to 3 couples can unwind under one big roof, while staying in separate quarters. Amenities include an outdoor hot tub, a large stone fireplace, a full kitchen, a laundry room, Wi-Fi and the use of a Lexus SUV. Every Wilderness Estate sits on four acres of wooded land.

BIG TIMBER HOMES

Just beyond the Paws Up Village and on the way to Spa Town®, 10 Big Timber Homes stand surrounded by scenic woods. Sitting on its own parcel of land, each Big Timber Home welcomes you with a wide front porch. Amenities include an outdoor hot tub on a private deck, a full kitchen, washer and dryer, Wi-Fi and the use of a Lexus SUV. These homes are available in three sizes: one bedroom plus loft, two-bedroom and three bedroom, each of which accommodate various group sizes.

MEADOW HOMES

With panoramic views of pastures and peaks, six Meadow Homes are conveniently located between the Paws Up Village and the Wilderness Outpost. These two-bedroom homes offer unparalleled Western comforts. Each has two full baths, one king-size bed and one queen-size bed. Amenities include a private outdoor hot tub, a full kitchen, a laundry room, Wi-Fi and the use of a Lexus SUV. Each home has its own entrance.

Groups can reserve up to 26 Paws Up luxury homes, with a combined room count of 63.

Paws Up luxury homes sit on large wooded lots, up to 4 acres each, so guests can choose between together time and quiet time.

Paws Up invented glamping. But our surroundings perfected it.

There's nothing like sleeping under the stars, listening to nature and calling your butler when you need an extra pillow. The Resort at Paws Up is North America's premier glamping destination, featuring six camps that cater to all kinds of groups. Each safari-style tent provides comfortable furnishings, electricity, heat and air-conditioning, plus daily cleaning and turn-down service. En suite, private bathrooms offer Montana-sized rain showers, heated floors and organic spa products.

Steps away, in the camp's Dining Pavilion, a skilled chef brings new meaning to haute grilling. Later, your group can relax around the campfire with craft cocktails, inventive s'mores and a possible performance by a local singer-songwriter.

There are six camps and a total of 36 safari-style tents with en suite bathrooms. Most groups utilize one tent per couple or single person, but social groups may take greater advantage of tents with two or three bedrooms.

When darkness falls,
your glamping
accommodations beckon.

Haus accommodations at the green o

Up a winding road from the Paws Up Village and beyond a hand-wrought iron gate, the green o sits nestled on a quiet hillside among Ponderosa pines. The remote setting offers incomparable serenity for adult guests staying in 12 ultra-modern luxe accommodations. Arrayed in a circle, spread far and wide, the resort's gem-like structures are available in four unique Haus designs. Each one features floor-to-ceiling windows, a king-size bed with relaxed linen sheets, a jetted outdoor hot tub and awe-inspiring architectural details like shou sugi ban wood siding, shimmering wall art and rooftop decks.

Amenities include a soaking tub, an ultramodern kitchen, a gas fireplace, a Sonos sound system, skylights and the use of a Lexus UX.

You'll soon appreciate why Veranda magazine named the green o among the world's "most beautiful hotels."

Altogether, the green o can accommodate just 12 couples, lending an air of extreme exclusivity.

the green o

GREEN HAUS

Part woodland bunker, part modern museum, its unique indoor/outdoor design invites you to seamlessly roam from luxury to wilderness and back again, never straying more than a few steps from what some claim is the most comfortable bedding ever made. A crackling fireplace. A pitched ceiling for an unparalleled view of the Montana stars.

LIGHT HAUS

One-of-a-kind, the Light Haus has everything you'd expect in luxury accommodations in Montana. An ultramodern kitchen. A large en suite bathroom with double vanity, shower and soaking tub. Two fireplaces. And thanks to its unique glass bump-out design and skylights, every night you're up close and personal with one of the greatest shows on earth.

ROUND HAUS

With curved, floor-to-ceiling windows that offer 180-degree panoramic views, the serene Montana wilderness is everywhere you look. Whether from your way-too-comfortable sunken seating area, two-sided fireplace or expansive windows in your master bedroom. Add an ultra-modern kitchen, luxurious bathroom and outdoor hot tub and you'll discover the middle of nowhere is definitely the place to be.

TREE HAUS

Elevated 23 feet above ground and with soaring floor-to-ceiling windows, you truly live among the trees in this luxury Montana tree house. The Montana wilderness surrounds you as you climb the elegant, glass-encased spiral staircase to the master bedroom suite and unparalleled forest views. Outdoor hot tub. A master bathroom with double vanity, shower and large soaking tub. An ultra-modern kitchen. You'll feel as though you're on top of the world.

Meetings and events that are truly a breed apart

Get the next best idea at The Last Best Place. Host your next workshop or summit in Paws Up's Bull Barn, more than 100 years old, where cattlemen brought their herd sires to linger. It's a remarkable vestige of the past that's been entirely renovated as a small conference center and special event hall. But it is only one of many distinct and unique spaces where your meeting or event will be brought to life.

THE HEREFORD PEN

On the first floor of the Bull Barn, you'll find the perfect location for brainstorming sessions and presentations of any kind. The Hereford Pen is equipped with state-of-the-art audio-visual technology and provides space for up to 60 participants.

THE SHORTHORN PEN

For an intimate setting, groups have access to the Shorthorn Pen, also inside the Bull Barn. Ideal for smaller board meetings, quiet phone calls or office space, it's also been used as a greenroom for film and photo shoots.

THE GREAT ANGUS HALL

On the second floor of the Bull Barn is the magnificent Great Angus Hall, with 3,145 square feet of space, a soaring vaulted ceiling and audio-visual equipment. It's an expansive venue ideal for meetings, weddings, receptions and social gatherings for up to 150 people. When the band gets going, you'll be tapping along under those glitzy chandeliers.

Memorable spaces, made to order

Montana's premier equestrian center—the Saddle Club at Paws Up—gives you the chance to orchestrate the ultimate dinner-and-a-show. Kick things off in the riding arena with custom rodeo events chosen just for your group. This indoor venue seats up to 150 spectators, with VIPs in comfortable leather chairs in the Sky Box suite with a fully stocked bar. As the arena activities wind down, a feast awaits, featuring the many culinary capabilities Paws Up brings to the table.

THE ARENA

Built in 1999 to train Paws Up's resident horses, the 35,000-square-foot arena is the ideal location for rodeos, equestrian shows, equestrian training, expositions or parties of any kind.

THE SKY BOX

Overlooking the indoor arena is the VIP Sky Box—the ultimate lounge for luxurious receptions. It features a fully stocked, built-in leather bar, a big screen television, plush leather seating and refined rustic tables and chairs with front-row views of all the equestrian action taking place in the arena. The intimate, unique atmosphere of the Sky Box is suited for any gathering of up to 30 people.

THE SADDLE CLUB

Start your night with a mustang demo or whip cracking and then head to the Grand Hall for an unforgettable meal true to the workings of the Paws Up Ranch. Set aside time beforehand for a wine or spirits tasting in the authentic yet lavish Tack Room.

Chuck Wagon

Experience what life was like in the Old West with an event at the Chuck Wagon. On the banks of the legendary Blackfoot River, our chefs prepare a spread no wrangler could resist: tomahawk steaks, Dutch-oven baked beans and fresh local fruit cobbler—or even a whole roasted pig. To finish your evening, the possibilities are endless. You could even enjoy music with a banjo player and, you guessed it, a cowboy poet.

Around the campfire

DINING PAVILIONS

Perched above the river or nestled in the woods, camp Dining Pavilions offer an extraordinary natural setting for dining amidst the wildlife. Camp chefs and butlers provide personalized service as guests observe the comings and goings of birds and the splashes of fish on the surface of twinkling waters. Ambient music comes from the sounds of rustling leaves. On the menu, you might find chili-dusted Black Angus steak, whole roasted rainbow trout and baked cobbler.

After dinner, you and your group can relax around the fire, finishing the night with craft cocktails, roasted marshmallows and s'mores, of course.

The Social Haus: Theater for the Hungry™

At the heart of the green o lies an unexpected sight: a design-forward structure made of burnt shou sugi ban wood and soaring glass. Step inside, and your senses come alive. Sit and observe the bustle as chefs prepare their works of art. Or assemble around the fireplace to recount adventures and wildlife sightings. Smell the aromas wafting from the open kitchen. Be inspired by the architecture. Or marvel in wonder at how the light dances in, filtered by the trees. Very few people, the world over, have experienced this level of remote refinement.

For dinner, you'll nosh on impeccably prepared dishes tailored to your liking. Acclaimed Executive Chef Brandon Cunningham and his staff will design a once-in-a-lifetime menu for your group with dishes you've never before imagined, such as Wagyu beef seared on a Blackfoot River rock, and playful bites like crudité's served in a flowerpot or a plate of duck and berries decorated with a delectable sauce. Afterwards, a broad deck outside invites your group to linger among the pines.

Dining venues and cuisine

Taste flavors as immense as the Big Sky above. Several on-property restaurant options, all unique in their own settings, deliver menus inspired by our local culture and growing seasons. Huckleberries picked from the slopes of surrounding hillsides might complement a breakfast of French toast and hand-made sausage. Fresh Rocky Mountain trout, sautéed with herbs, can be paired with an exquisite Napa Valley Chardonnay.

Enjoy each bite. Because during your group's entire stay, you might never see the same dish twice.

POMP

Paws Up Village's premier dining venue, Pomp, radiates Western glamour. The cuisine could be described as elevated rustic ranch. Our illustrious culinary staff create masterful morsels out of painstakingly foraged and carefully sourced ingredients. Local ingredients are featured, so offerings change just like the seasons.

TROUGH

A casual fine dining establishment featuring home-cooked flavors, Trough is the must-hit place for quintessential favorites like elk sausage and huckleberry pancakes. Don't miss the full espresso bar. You can continue to fuel your day with everything from hot lunches and healthy smoothies to the best mac and cheese this side of the Continental Divide.

TANK

Pull up a stool and take in the view. Your bartender knows just how to concoct your go-to beverage of choice or show you what we drink here in high-style Greenough, Montana. Bar bites are substantial and the environment comes complete with flat-screen TVs, toe-tapping tunes and a spectacular fireplace.

SHED

From its whalebone-like structures and 250-gallon smoker to its friendly location next to the Wilderness Outpost, everything about Shed® invites folks to gather. You'll find quesadillas, burgers, pulled pork and elote (grilled corn). In the smoker, cauliflower burnt ends, wings and sausages await foodies. Fresh salads and sides are also available as is a plethora of yummy deserts. Shed hits the spot for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

IN-HOME DINING

For those times when you just can't lift a finger, let alone amble down the road, Paws Up provides in-home dining. Signature pizzas include a morel and duck bacon option with artisanal crust. Yum! Catering from any of our kitchens is on offer, too, including setup and takedown, any time of day or night.

THE ISLAND LODGE AT SALMON LAKE

For a group experience unlike any other, reserve your own private island. Just 15 minutes from The Resort, the Island Lodge at Salmon Lake promises privacy and mouthwatering cuisine rivaled only by the jaw-dropping mountain and wilderness views. We recommend a live-fire barbecue picnic with sunset pontoon tours. Or spend a whole day there on a float and sample water sports like tubing and jet skiing. With space indoors as well, the Island Lodge is a showstopper of a venue.

Spring and fall wilderness adventures

With waters rushing from snowmelt and meadows covered in wildflowers, spring is a spectacular time to visit Montana. Of course, fall makes it hard to decide, with its shimmering tamaracks and hungry, sometimes leaping, rainbow trout. Whenever you plan your group getaway, you'll have dozens upon dozens of on-property outdoor adventures to choose from. Try rappelling over a 170-foot rock face—or fly-fishing, cattle driving, horseback riding or careening through muddy trails on the back of an ATV. A variety of shooting sports are on offer, too. For a good, long look at Montana's best-preserved ghost town, take a backcountry tour on a Polaris General. You'll never run out of unconventional activities for your group.

Spring and fall team-building activities

It's remarkable how wide-open landscapes can bring people together. Maybe you're also looking for ways to challenge your group and build esprit de corps. Whatever your goals, Paws Up offers a variety of outdoorsy options. You'll try things you never thought possible, like helping to train a wild mustang in a horse whispering workshop (and learning the finer points of leadership along the way). Test your aim with a bow and arrow. Let loose on a go-kart track or summon an extra dose of bravery on our heart-stopping ropes course. Hone your problem-solving skills on a geocaching scavenger hunt. Whatever you do, the bonding happens naturally and everyone has the time of their lives.

Wintertime wilderness adventures

Sure, you could meet in the tropics and sip frozen margaritas. But in winter, you might prefer the exhilaration you feel in an entire frozen landscape. When the snow is piled high, inch over inch, you'll break a sweat every day as take on thrilling activities like Paws Up's Backcountry Biathlon, Cow Croquet, cross-country skiing, dogsledding, horseback riding, ice skating, MoonBikes riding, sleigh rides, snow tubing, snowmobiling and snowshoeing. To name just a few.

Wintertime packs in
of frosty activities.

No matter the weather, spa services help you chill.

Wellness practices don't just feel good. They nurture the body and mind. At Paws Up, we take health and healing seriously, with a full spectrum of yoga classes, massage offerings and fitness equipment. In warmer months, Spa Town provides treatments in breezy tents overlooking the vast meadowlands. In winter, spa services are offered in the cozy indoors.

Any time of year, your group can take part in forest bathing, the ancient Japanese practice of soaking in the sights and sounds of a natural setting. You can experience sound bathing, too, allowing the vibrations from pure crystal bowls to bring about inner peace. Or gather to learn the art of lotion- and balm-making in an aromatic apothecary class.

Sipping wines or handcrafted cocktails only pluses up your mellow.

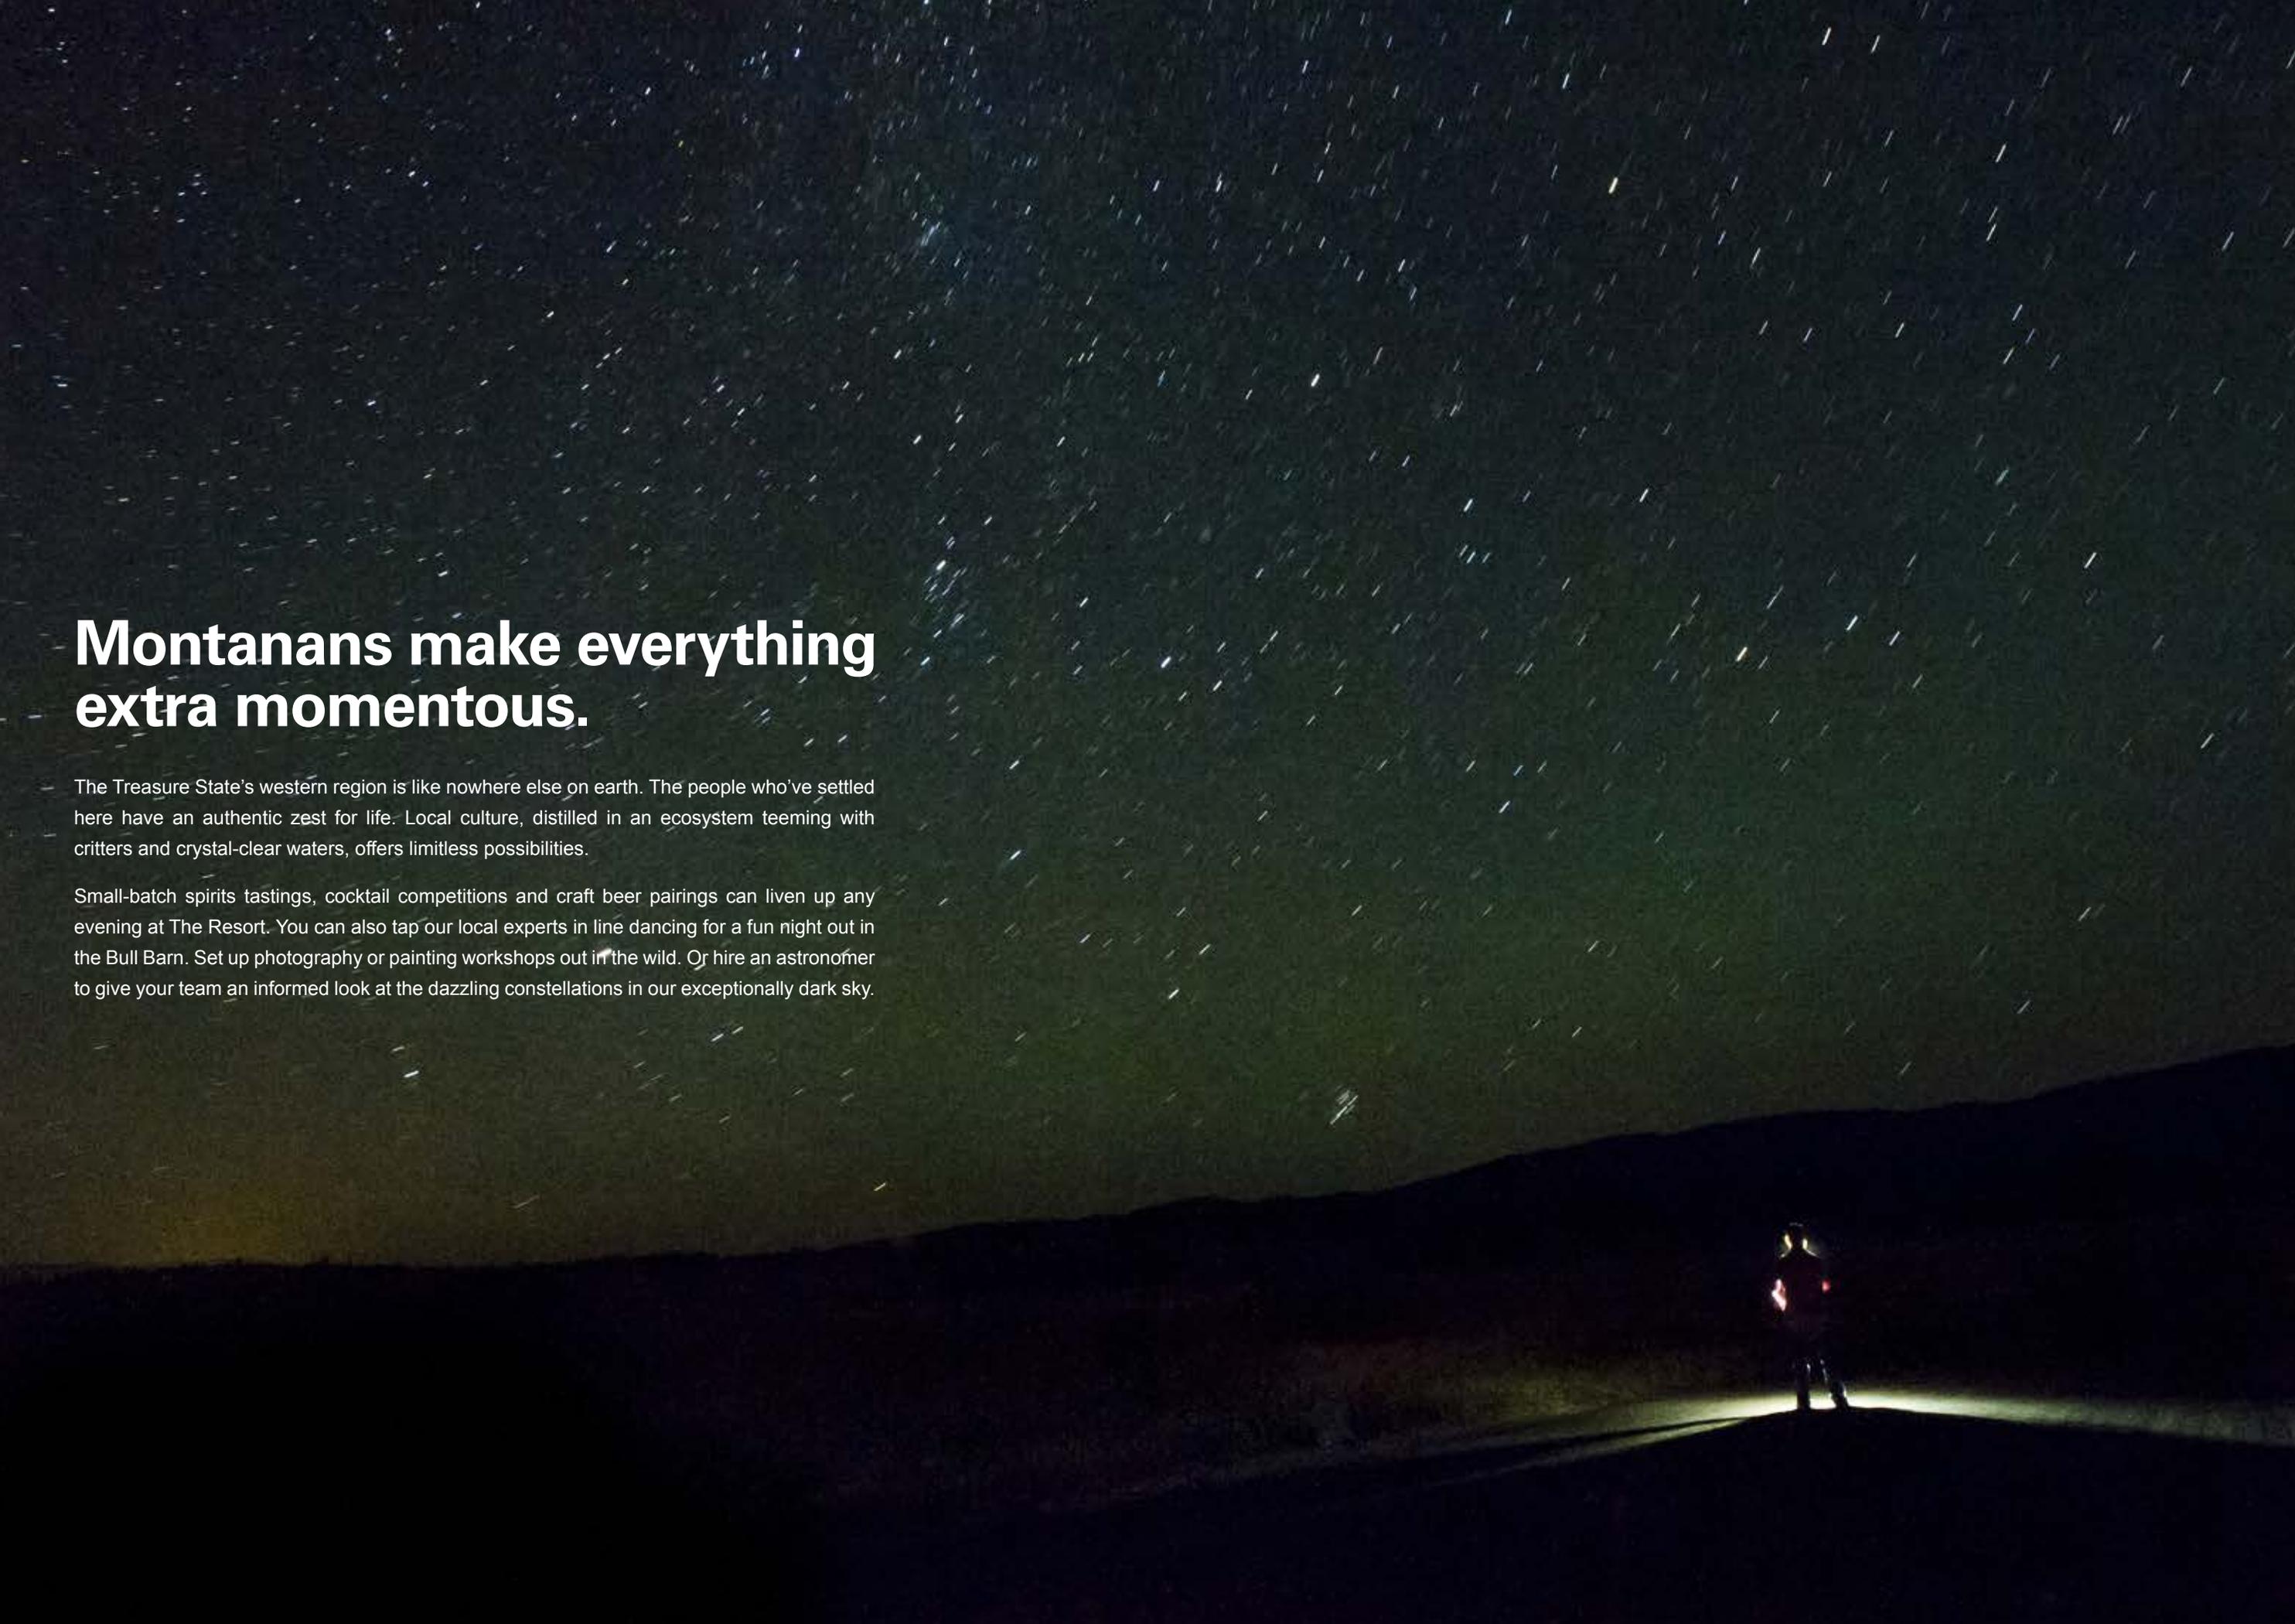

Event enhancements

Look out on the landscape and see a blank canvas that's all yours. At Paws Up, you can stage practically anything you can think of. To ignite your imagination, picture fireworks lighting up the sky over a blanket of white, their colors reflected all around you on the glistening snow. Add an accompanying bonfire for a magical finale on your very last night.

For an activity that leaves a lasting impression, hand your group some branding irons. Each participant can have the chance to customize a cowboy hat right on the spot.* Or amp up the fun with a game of hatchet throwing, see the Ranch from a tethered hot air balloon or ride through spectacular colors on an autumnal wagon ride.

Must be planned well in advance. Minimums may be required.

A person stands on a dark, silhouetted hillside at night, illuminated by a bright beam of light from a flashlight. The person is looking up at a vast, dark sky filled with numerous stars, some appearing as streaks due to long exposure. The overall scene is dark and atmospheric, emphasizing the beauty of a clear night sky.

Montanans make everything extra momentous.

The Treasure State's western region is like nowhere else on earth. The people who've settled here have an authentic zest for life. Local culture, distilled in an ecosystem teeming with critters and crystal-clear waters, offers limitless possibilities.

Small-batch spirits tastings, cocktail competitions and craft beer pairings can liven up any evening at The Resort. You can also tap our local experts in line dancing for a fun night out in the Bull Barn. Set up photography or painting workshops out in the wild. Or hire an astronomer to give your team an informed look at the dazzling constellations in our exceptionally dark sky.

Group gifts that hit the mark

Surprise your group with a lasting memory and a special token of appreciation. Give us your ideas or let us provide options that are unique to your group. We'll work within your budget and source products just for you. Customizations can include your logo, our logo(s) or both.

Our team can deliver the goods pre-arrival, as a welcome gift, nightly or post-departure. In the end, you can be sure your group will come away from their trip to Paws Up with great memories of their experience, as well as a memento they'll treasure for years to come.

Part play, part personalization

THE PAWS UP CUSTOMIZED HAT EXPERIENCE*

What's better than arriving for the trip of a lifetime and getting to customize your own cowboy hat? We can't think of much. Use a branding iron to add your own initials, for example, or try hat bands, feathers or other accessories. For a true custom fit, measured just-right, you'll need to plan a year in advance. Or, for the chance to customize a selection of our in-stock hats, you can schedule the experience closer to your arrival date.

BOOT BAR*

Footwear says a lot about a person. Cowboy boots tell the world you've been on an authentic Western adventure. By planning at least a year in advance, you can order your group truly custom boots. Yes, they go on their feet, but some will marvel at how they fit like a glove. Another way to spruce up your stay is with a regular fitting. With six months' notice and some rough estimates of their sizes, we can have an assortment of boots on hand for when your group arrives on property. Breaking them in is the best fun of all.

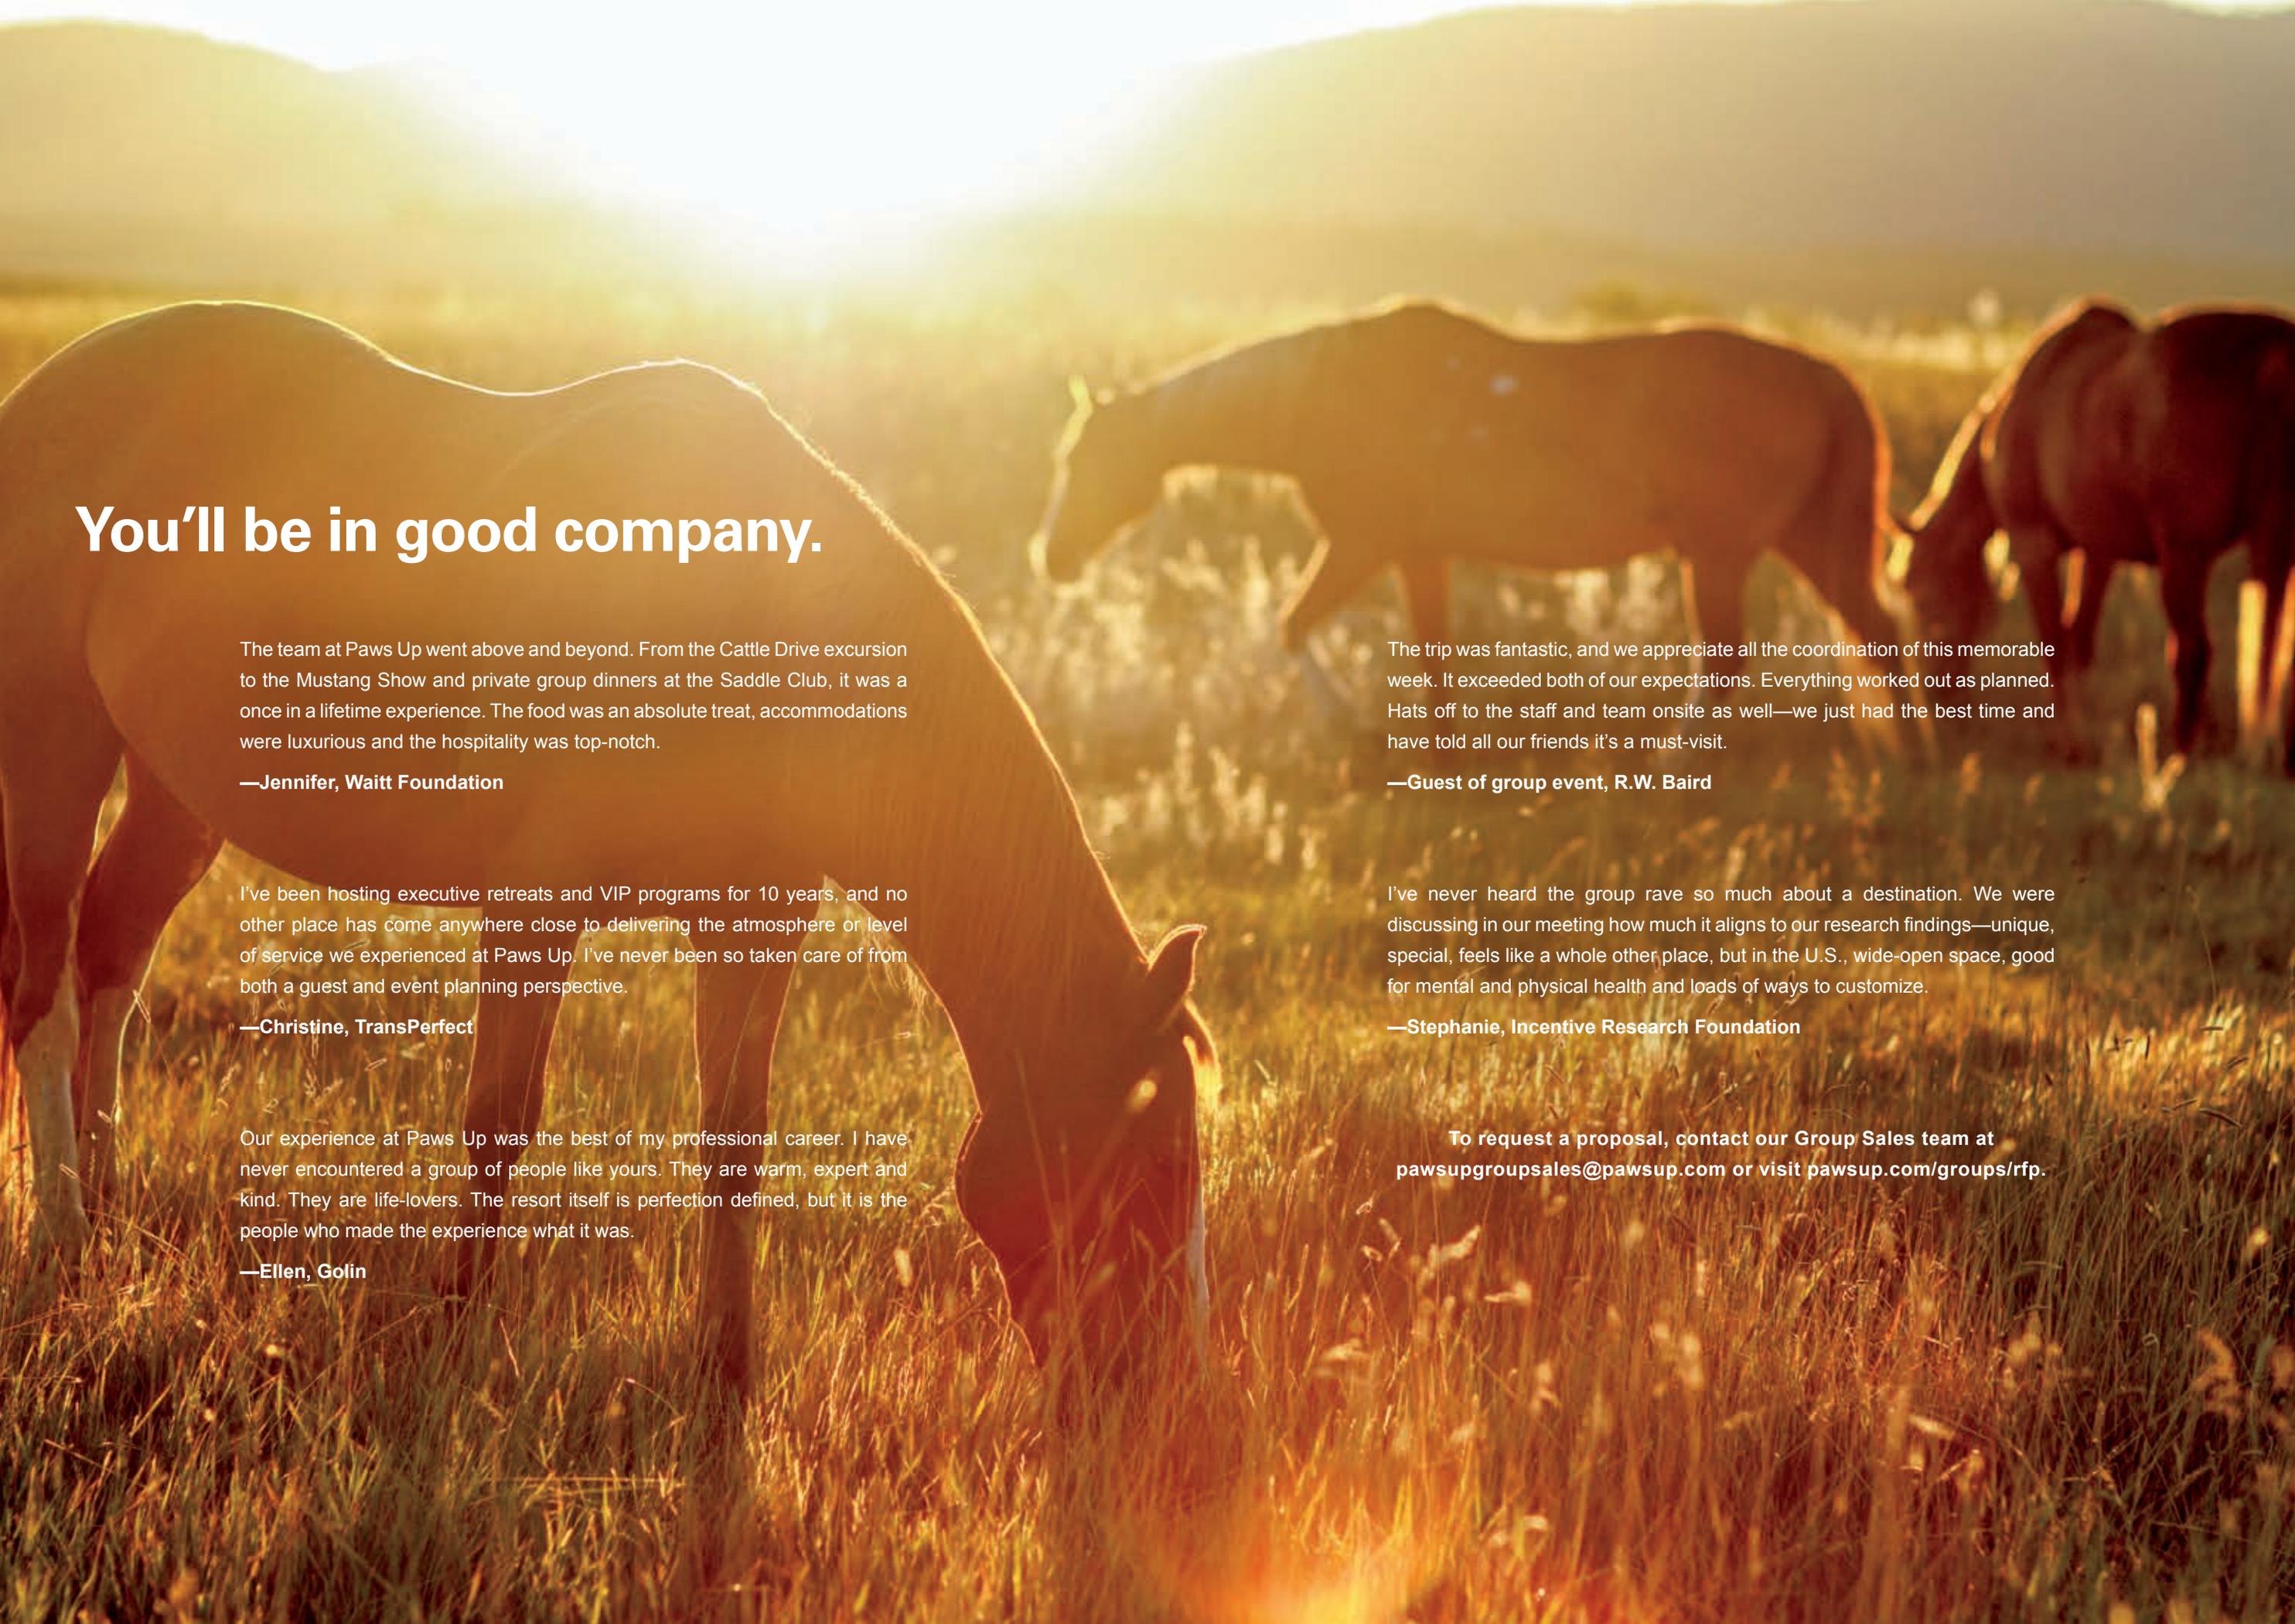

TRUNK SHOWS AND PERSONAL SHOPPING*

Don't get lassoed into settling for bland ol' ranch wear. We invite you to get out ahead of that urge. Build trunk shows and personal shopping right into your itinerary. With a little bit of lead time, we can also offer beverages and snacks while you shop.

Must be planned well in advance. Minimums may be required.

A herd of horses is grazing in a field of tall grass at sunset. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a warm, golden glow over the scene. The horses are silhouetted against the bright light, and their forms are softened by the atmospheric haze. The overall mood is peaceful and serene.

You'll be in good company.

The team at Paws Up went above and beyond. From the Cattle Drive excursion to the Mustang Show and private group dinners at the Saddle Club, it was a once in a lifetime experience. The food was an absolute treat, accommodations were luxurious and the hospitality was top-notch.

—Jennifer, Waitt Foundation

I've been hosting executive retreats and VIP programs for 10 years, and no other place has come anywhere close to delivering the atmosphere or level of service we experienced at Paws Up. I've never been so taken care of from both a guest and event planning perspective.

—Christine, TransPerfect

Our experience at Paws Up was the best of my professional career. I have never encountered a group of people like yours. They are warm, expert and kind. They are life-lovers. The resort itself is perfection defined, but it is the people who made the experience what it was.

—Ellen, Golin

The trip was fantastic, and we appreciate all the coordination of this memorable week. It exceeded both of our expectations. Everything worked out as planned. Hats off to the staff and team onsite as well—we just had the best time and have told all our friends it's a must-visit.

—Guest of group event, R.W. Baird

I've never heard the group rave so much about a destination. We were discussing in our meeting how much it aligns to our research findings—unique, special, feels like a whole other place, but in the U.S., wide-open space, good for mental and physical health and loads of ways to customize.
